

FINANCIAL WELLBEING WORKERS

Part of the Financial Wellbeing Service (FWS)

What is FWS?

FWS is a free, confidential counselling service that works with individuals and families to help them regain control of their finances.

Financial counselling:

- Supports families and individuals experiencing financial crisis
- Provides short-term crisis management and long-term prevention strategies
- Includes counselling, education, analysis, negotiation, personal financial management and referrals.

What are Financial Wellbeing Workers?

Financial Wellbeing Workers aim to prevent people moving into financial hardship.

They will do this by focussing on building the person's financial literacy, improving money management confidence, and changing behaviours in both individuals and families. This improves their ability to participate in society and creates a healthier and better connected community.

Financial Wellbeing Workers can provide one to one (1:1) coaching, workshops, or both.
